

One of the best scores ever received by a Chilean wine in the traditional tastings done by this renowned US magazine, places Gê at the top of the “Superb; A great achievement” category for wines in the 94–97 point range.

The prestigious US magazine Wine Enthusiast awarded Emiliana’s icon biodynamic wine Gê 2006 94 out of 100 points. The publication conducts blind tastings in a format that is well-known in the industry.

According to the magazine’s tasting notes, Emiliana Gê stands out for its:

Dark, dense, spicy and full of everything nice, including cola, berry, earth and richness. The palate has ideal ripeness and power, and the flavors are a clever mix of light herbs, spice, chocolate and blasting berry. Long and sultry on the finish, with tobacco and immense complexity. One of Chile’s very best wines; a blend of Syrah, Carmenère, Cabernet and Merlot.

“Gê is an elegant, sophisticated wine known for its tremendous quality and the expression of the biodynamic management we use in our vineyards,” explains Álvaro Espinoza, consulting winemaker for Viñedos Emiliana. “Gê marked a landmark in the history of Chilean viticulture by being the first wine to be certified biodynamic in Latin America.”

This recent acknowledgement is added to a long list of awards the winery has received for its various products and that have helped position it in Chile and abroad as one of the most important organic and biodynamic wineries in the world.

In the recent 27th International Wine Challenge, Emiliana earned a Gold Medal for Gê 2005 and in the 17th Concours Mondial de Bruxelles Gold Medals were awarded to Coyam 2007, Novas Winemaker’s Selection Chardonnay Viognier Marsanne 2008, Novas Winemaker’s Selection Syrah Mourvedre 2006, and Novas Winemaker’s Selection Syrah 2007.

This reconfirms Emiliana’s philosophy of producing the highest quality wines through organic and biodynamic agriculture.

Wine Enthusiast Magazine

This prestigious publication from the United States is highly recognized for the rigorously controlled tastings its editors and other distinguished panelists do on a regular basis. The price of the wine is not taken into consideration, and only those that receive a score of 80 or higher are published.

The scores are understood as follows:

98-100: Classic; The pinnacle of quality

94-97: Superb; A great achievement

90-93: Excellent; Highly Recommended

87-89: Very Good; Often good value; well recommended

83-86: Good; Suitable for everyday consumption; often good value

80-82: Acceptable; Can be employed in casual, less-critical circumstances

Founded in 1988, the magazine has a long tradition of delivering the results of its tastings, which are available to the public free of charge on their web site: www.winemag.com/Wine-Enthusiast-Magazine/.

Today Wine Enthusiast is the leading magazine in the world that is exclusively dedicated to the wine industry. The majority of US wine lovers and much of the world turn to Wine Enthusiast when they need a thorough evaluation of a specific wine.

Emiliana's Coyam and Gê among the world's finest wines

Emiliana's Coyam and Gê among the world's finest wines. This year the distinguished publication rated the best 5- and 10- year old wines, awarding 92 points to Coyam 2005 and 91 points to Gê 2005. These high scores clearly show that organic wines retain their level of excellence and quality even after lengthy cellaring. Both wines were also among the 6 most outstanding Chilean wines.

The International Wine Challenge is recognized as the world's most influential blind tasting body. Each year it issues The Library Collection, a publication listing the best 5- and 10- year old wines, which means that this year the group tasted the 2000 and 2005 vintages. The top-ranked wines included two Emiliana icon wines—Gê (2005) and Coyam (2005).

The judges awarded Coyam 92 points out of a possible 100, commenting on its “violet core, bright rim. Lovely fruity, spicy style on nose. Inviting rich lively fruit, good style and depth.”

For its part, Gê was awarded 91 points for its “deep youthful colour. Nose is sweet, fresh and aromatic—berries with a touch of eucalyptus. Palate is concentrated, dense, spicy, peppery fruit with a touch of soy sauce and eucalyptus. Fine, grainy tannins, high alcohol on the finish but is well balanced with some length. Carmenere flavours dominate.”

In the words of Cristián Rodríguez, Emiliana's Commercial Manager, “This not only proves that Emiliana's wines are among the best in international rankings, but also supports our belief that organic and biodynamic wines retain their excellence over time and even improve as they age.”

The scores awarded by the IWC Library Collection ranked Coyam and Gê among Chile’s top 6 wines.

Emiliana Wines Highly Ranked in the International Wine and Spirit Competition 2010

Novas Winemaker’s Selection, Adobe, and Emiliana Reserva Especial were among the various wines from Emiliana, the most important organic and biodynamic winery in Chile and the world, that earned medals in the recent competition, considered one of the most important in the world due to its independent character.

October 2010- Outstanding results for Emiliana in the 2010 International Wine and Spirit Competition (IWSC)! Several of its wines were among the top-ranking wines in one of the most important competitions in the world.

In competition against wines from around the world, Novas Winemaker’s Selection Syrah 2008, Cabernet Sauvignon 2007, Syrah/Mourvèdre 2007, Chardonnay/Viognier/Marsanne 2008, Novas Chardonnay 2009, Novas Cabernet Sauvignon/Merlot 2007, and Adobe Gewürztraminer 2009, earned Silver Medals and Best in Class for their high quality. Adobe Carmenere 2009 and Emiliana Reserva Especial Pinot Noir 2008 also won Silver Medals.

These results were announced after a rigorous evaluation by a jury who blind tasted wines and spirits from more than 80 countries, once again confirming the high quality of Emiliana’s products.

The IWSC is one of the most prestigious wine and spirits competitions in the world due to its 100% independent character, the format of the competition, and its high level of acceptance within the industry.
